Interesting exchange I had with GWACs 5 years ago. They mention a next gen lower with adjustable LOP and QD points.

GWACs never had the lowers back in stock. I checked practically every day for months. It seems by the time InRange published the first of the WWSD build series GWACs had already been sold out for a while. I completed my WWSD 2017 rifle with an aluminum reviever instead. Love the new KE lower.

Thank you,

I am hoping to have some FDE next month, please check back. We are also hoping to launch a next generation lower that will have adjustability in length and multiple QD sockets. Thanks!

When do you expect the Flat Dark Earth and OD Green lowers to be back in stock?

Any future plans for upgrades? Like an adjustable length of pull or built in QD sockets?

Thanks.
